Not Believing Fools. Willys' Orange Juice, Milk. The Woman of Genius. Snow in Wall Street.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.]

IT SNOWED in Wall Street, literally and figuratively. Some gambling stocks gave an exhibition of ground and lofty tumbling, as the well in-formed knew they soon must do.

CHILDREN that see a rocket go ing up, the first time, think it will keep on going. That is how ignorant gamblers felt about stocks. Why should they ever stop going up?

THE Wall street episode is not a panic, but what professionals call a "shake out." Little people have had their exciting hour. Now they are to be shaken out, and the game will begin over again, with small savings added to big savings.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 10.— When Alfred Balzano, 22, ran away from Patrolman Malcolm Sims on the East Side here early today and failed to comply with the policeman's command to stop, Sims drew his pistol, shot and fatally wounded the fugitive. Balzano died in a hospital a short time later. Sims and Patrolman Ralph Kennedy had been called to the neighborhood by residents of the vicinity who reported they had seen a prowler. Bal-zano was seen a short time later, apparently attempting to hide in a dark shadowy corner. A chase followed, Balzano failing to heed the shouts of the two officers. Kennedy fired one warning shot into the ground and Sims then shot directly at the fugitive, tho bullet striking him in the back. The victim's father, Frank Balzano, reported that his son was hard of hearing and that he thought he did not understand the officers. Deputy Inspec-tor Stephen Murphy, after a preliminary investigation, early this morning reported that it was his opinion that the shooting was justified.

Now... WRINGERLESS WASHING

... ends slow piece-by-piece wringing!

Instead of feeding your clothes piece-by-piece, into a wringer ... with the new Easy Washer you merely transfer them, altogether, from the washing to the drying compartment.

Whirls out the water

The new Easy Damp-Dryer whirls the water from a tubful of clothes in less than two minutes. Whirls out the soapy water. Then sixty-six times a minute. whirls out the rinse water. Leaves clothes damp-dry ... ready for sun drying. A wonderful saving of time and labor.

Saves clothes, too. No more torn clothes; no more buttons off; no strain on fabrics; no cracking of silk or rayon garments; no stretching nor distorting of woolens and blankets; no injury to hooks and fasteners. Less mending for you.

Besides, more water is removed . . . clothes dry quicker on the line. Clothes are evenly damp and free from deep, hard creases : . : ironing is easier. Feather pillows, blankets and bulky pieces which a wringer cannot handle are easily damp-dried.

No more torn clothes

Speed without harming clothes

Two things are done at once. That's another secret of the speedy work done with the Easy Wringerless Washer. Eight full-size sheets or their equal, are washed in the tub, while eight other sheets are dampdried in the drying compartment.

No harmful rushing of your clothes. No hurrying on your part. Yet your clothes are on the line earlier.

Vacuum cup washing

: . . Easy vacuum cup washing is today more popular than ever before.

Its three vacuum cups... like human hands ... move up and down and around ...

Dirtiest clothes are washed clean. Daintiest garments are perfectly safe. The one method that is always praised by the women

A special heater beneath the tub provides ample hot water. And when through, the Easy pumps itself dry, at the touch of a lever, into sink or drain. No burdensome lifting of water.

Easy Washers with wringers, too

They are good, efficient machines. Their wringers are equipped with every safety device. But no wringer-equipped machine made, not even our own, can, of course, compare with the Easy Model R, with automatic Damp-Dryer.

Week's washing done free

If you can, go to an Easy dealer's showroom. Or telephone and he will gladly demonstrate in your home. He will do your week's washing free, without slightest obligation.

Moreover, he will sell you an Easy Wringerless Washer on convenient terms, with low monthly payments.

If you will not join church because of the hypocrites, why do you persist, by staying out, in going to hell there to live forever

Mere going to church will not make you a Christian any more than will the going into a garage make you a Tin Lizzie or the going into a stable transform you into a horse,

God keeps a census of tears but not-those of bad men and women.

It is easy to explain smiles and success but you are not given the details of one's failure.

There are 455,000 words in the dictionary but all of these words can not explain what a tear really

Tears include the agony of the heart and the groans of the soul.

Were is not for troubles and the heartaches that bring tears this world would be good enough for you and me.

Vice stings us even in our pleasures; virtue comforts us in our troubles.

I can tell when men and women have been in trouble by the way they pray. And women have had more trouble than men. That is why they pray better than men.

Prayer is taking a hold of the arm of God and walking along with him

We do not know our weakness or God's strength until the last plank under us breaks.

Men too often make God the last resort when He should have been the first.

The greatest doctor the world has ever known has been the Christian mother and my mother was the best of all. She know every weed with curative properties. You can not really comfort anyone else until you have been comforted yourself.

The footsteps of Jesus are softer than a dew drop.

In heaven, like children who rush by their father for their mother's comfort, we will pass David, Moses. Daniel, Peter, James and John while hurrying to grasp Jesus' hand.

We cry at the passing of friends here; there they rejoice in welcoming them.

With the great Leviathan having waves break over her deck, a woman sat serenely. Remonstrated with for the fallure to put on a life preserver she exclaimed: "I have two daughters, Mary in heaven and Martha in New York. If the ship sinks I will be with Mary; if it rides the storm I shall see Martha. I am not sure which I would rather be with."

Your mother can touch the sore spot without hurting you; when she stops to put on her spectacles to look at it it is two-

The early church had convictions, a thing now about obsolete in modern churches.

How can a man or woman who claim to be Christians permit five weeks of a campaign like this go by without attending a meeting when that which a church is supposed to do is being attempted?

Spiritual apathy is being generally noted everywhere. A preacher in St. Louis was drawing $15,000 a year salary yet only had 75 persons hear him on Sunday morning.

They do not sing in heaven except when sinners are converted.

Saul was the most distinguished modernist of his day.

Paul had to be made physically blind before he could see Christ as the Son of God.

I can not understand why people can not show as much zeal for Christ as they do for society.

Ananias who came to Saul in Damascus was not a great preacher; he did not broadcast, but he was a capable personal worker.

A big part of the New Testament went over the wall when Paul was lowered to safety at Damascus, yet no one knows the name of the man who made the rope that preserved him.

Church means more than sitting in the seats and singing "Think of the Home Over There."

To follow Christ is not effeminate; it is the most manly and the most womanly thing that any man or woman can do.

Electrically Driven Liner

The turbo-electrically driven Virginia, of the Panama Pacific line, the largest commercial vessel ever built in America, has arrived in New York from the yards of her builders at Newport News, preparatory to her maiden voyage to California ports on which she is to sail next

The Virginia is 613 feet long, has a beam of 80 feet and has a gross tonnage of 22,500, being 12 feet longer and 300 tous larger than the California, of the same line. She has a guaranteed average speed of 18 knots an 19 knots was made and when tuned up she will probably be capable of making 20.

Each of the twin propellers of the Virginia is directly connected to an 8,500-horsepower motor. The electricity for driving the motors is generated by two marine type General Electric 6,000-kilowatt steam turbines.

Better Houses

Architecture, to most people, means expense. As a rule, only people planning a house to cost more than $10,000 think it worth the money to employ an architect. Indeed, very few feel like paying an architect's fee until the cost gets up around $20,000, and then they

That, as intelligent home-owners are beginning to realize, is a mistake. For a competent architect always puts into a house more value than his services cost, trained. More than that, he puts value into the street, neighborhood and city where the house is built.

Conversely, bad architecture—which is poor building -takes value from a house, street, neighborhood and and endurance. Sometimes polo ponies are produced by Home-owners do not realize yet how much this means, but they will eventually. The American Institute of Architects is doing its best to enlighten the public and improve the situation. It points out that it is possible for a house costing less than $10,000 to be as good architecturally as one costing more, and that general improvement in small house architecture would add immensely to the attractiveness and value of residence streets.

In some cities the architects are co-operating in the production of good designs for various types of small houses. These plans will be available for home-build ers, with complete working drawings and specifications, at actual cost.

Nowhere in the world has there been so much improvement in dwelling houses as in the United States during the last 10 years. But the progress might be more complete and uniform. With the building wave that has come since the war, city residence sections are being virtually rebuilt, and there are large areas of new development. Never before was there such an opport City tunity for fine construction.

HASKIN DAILY

- By Frederick J. Haskin -

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 10 .- Three federal ager es, all bureaus of the department of agriculture, ar directing their energies toward the control of the sugar beet leafhopper which is threatening to destroy the worth more than $50,000.000. In good years the crop has been valued at more than $90,000,000. These agencies are the bureau of entomology, the bureau of plant ndustry, and the bureau of soils

It has ben demonstrated that the insect does eadily succumb to poisonous sprays which are effective against many plant pests nor has it been discovered nat there is any parasite preying upon the leafhopper which appreciably limits its ravages. Therefore, principal attention now is being directed to the production of a sugar beet which will resist attack. It has been found in many botanical experiments that, through careful selection of seed and soil, a plant can be produced which develops an immunity to disease. Considerable which is destructive but a disease, known as curly leaf, which is transmitted to the plant when the insect pierces the leaf veins. If a beet can be evolved which will resist this disease, the insect may bite to its heart's ontent and cause no damage.

Another line of campaign against the leafhopper de save the threatened industry is increased beet production. It is argued by the scientists working gridiron this fall, the association's chieftain, Dr. Carl quantity of sugar beets that there will be enough for the leafhoppers and also enough left over for the manufac ture of sugar.

This is thought possible because the insect does not oduce as largely as some others. Some insets lay hundreds, even thousands, of eggs but experimentation With a membership of 500 and indications that the has shown that the normal female leafhopper produces only about a dozen and in some instances only two o three eggs, some of which are infertile and some of which are des syed before they hatch into the young which are euphemistically called nymphs.

The sugar beet leafhopper is a temperamental insect. Not yet have the experis definitely located regular breeding places, save that it is fairly certain they breed in desert places. This fact has been an important obeggs are laid in the foliage of the beet plants it is no believed that the beet fields are the principal breeding places. Observation has shown that the swarms which suddenly invade the fields come flying from afar. They are capable of long flights apparently and have even rossed mountain ranges.

The insects are erratic in the time of their attack This may prove very helpful in their control. Sometimes they descend on the beet fields when the plants are quite young-usually not until later. This very fact s regarded as conclusive evidence that they do not breed near the fields. If they did, it is asserted, they would appear and begin feeding as soon as the beets were up in the spring.

In general it may be said that the insects appear in the late spring, feed through the summer, and hibernate n the winter. It has been suggested that if the winter hibernating places of the leafhoppers could be found many could doubtless be destroyed but, like Arabs, they isappear from sight in the desert. Like detectives, the scientists not only of the departments of agriculture bureaus but those of the state agricultural departments in beet-growing states and hose employed by producing cooperatives and sugar factories, are studying the devious and destructive ways of the insect. One clue being studied with particular care is the periodicity of intense attacks. Not every season does the leafhoppear in dangerously destructive numbers. While it is true that the periods of greatest destruction have been marked by hot, dry weather, it also is true that other periods, equally torrid and arid, have not resulted in increased insect incidence. Now the ex hour, but on her run up from Newport News a speed of perts believe that there is some reasons, suppresses the insects. But what it is remains a mystery. flights and the secrecy concerning the hibernation places of the great swarms have prevented the scientists from knowing from what place or even from what direction attacks on the beet valleys have come.

The whole thing constitutes a mystery and an eco-nomic problem well worth anyone's time. A tiny, white winged insect is outwitting the most skilled and pa tient scientists and threatening to bankrupt a great in-each day to be really and truly tired.

She has succeeded so well hat little evidence remains of her

To be tired is one thing and to be over-fatigued is another. Whether the over-fatigue is the result of longcontinued and exhausting manual la bor or whether it comes from mental effort, there can be no doubt that the lowered vitality leaves the body less able to resist disease invasion. Science has made many tests to

BETWEEN BYOU AND ME

I HAVE A SPLENDID IDEA. A pair of those SWANKY BOOTS in either blue or brown alligator or Patent leather would be a lovely gift to the woman who admires stylish foot-wear. I heard one fair lady admit "I'd love to have a pair of those, but I've so many other things to buy, I can't afford it." If I could pass that on to her mother, brother, or Aunt Sarah, I'm sure she would get them. I think I will, and add also that Bendheim's Shoe Store is the only place in the City where they can be bought.

NOW-A-DAYS-folks appreciate knowing a place where they can buy gifts that are unusual-especially for that friend or relative who seems to have "just everything." Let me whis per, "The Treasure Chest is just such a quaint gift shop." You will enjoy it's cooziness and charm as well as the ornamental pieces on display. They still have some of those unique Christmas Cards I told you about.

AT MOYER'S UPSTAIRS STORE -in the Hosiery Department-lies the solution of many of your Gift problems. A pair of beautifully sheer, silk hose is always an acceptable gift -especially when they are a pair of those I saw with the lace twin-heels. They come in the Boulevard, Champagne, Grain and Gun-metal shades, and are priced very reasonable.

TO THE QUESTION-What gift in Jewelry would please Her most?' I would answer without the least hes itation, "The beautiful necklace of yellow gold and precious Jade, that I saw the other day at J. H. Morton's, and with a bracelet to match—they are so exquisitely artistic that they defy description. Perhaps one of the many others will find the favor of your choice. The Store is resplendent with all it's jewels.

NO MATTER WHAT STYLE OR PRICE SMOKING Stand you are thinking about for Him you will find just that one at Crook's Furniture Store. I never in my whole life of... years saw such a varied collection. You stop and look them over. I know you'll find I am telling the truth. They are all there from the one that refuses to be upset no matter who falls over it-to the elegant ones that are electrically equipped.

MAKE YOUR PLANS NOW for a Happy Christmas next year by enrolling in the Christmas Savings Club now being formed at The First National Parks tional Bank. In the midst of your joy with this year's check, have a thought for the next year's savings account. A small deposit will start you, and you can save each week just the amount you find convenient.

IF IT'S A COLORFUL VASE, YOU WISH Madam, I can help you. Just take the elevator down to Ogilvle's Basement, and as you step off-there -you will see the Italian Vases in the richest, warmest colorings-glowing with deep rose, red, gorgeous blues, greens, and orange tones. Besides vases, you'll find charming bowls and graceful pitchers.

OH! I DON'T BELIEVE A MAN ever loved his son as Sorrel," said Molly Pentreath. The outcome of the two days' results had a marked influence on the evangelist. He renewed physically and spiritually and smiled happily on everyone as, finally, he backed into his great coat and returned to his quarters in the Travelers' hotel.

THE NEW FORD REMARKABLE

C Value of simplicity of design shown daily in outstanding smoothness, acceleration, speed, power, reliability and economy. Low-priced car should not be complicated.

THE engine of the new Ford represents a new development in modern automobile engineering. It is unique in design and performance, giving unusual smoothness, acceleration, speed and power without sacrifice of reliability and economy.

Ford engineering has found the way to include every essential feature of good performance without the necessity of a high speed, complicated motor.

The design of the cylinder head is just one factor in this performance. Others are the direct gravity gasoline feed, the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, the carefully planned large valve diameter, the chrome silicon alloy valves, the aluminum pistons, the statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and flywheel, and the simplicity of the electrical, ignition, cooling, lubrication and fuel systems.

Engine mounting reduces vibration

Of special importance is the manner in which engine vibration is absorbed before it reaches the chassis of the car, thereby preventing unpleasant vibration periods.

This is done in the new Ford through the introduction of a flexible front end support that is both simple and practical—a truly remarkable improvement in engine mounting developed after many months of testing and experimenting.

Quality of materials and careful workmanship also have a great deal to do with the continuously good performance of the new Ford.

ENGINE

In the new Ford, for instance, the diameter of the piston pin is held within three ten-thousandths (.0003) of an inch. An equally close limit is followed in the hole into which the piston pin is fitted.

The weight of the aluminum alloy pistons is set at 17% ounces. No piston is permitted to come under this weight nor exceed it by more than 2 grams.

In the piston assemblies, consisting of piston, connecting rod, pin and spring retainer, the four assemblies in each motor must match in weight within a limit of $3\frac{1}{2}$ grams. Every piston assembly must meet the weight of the other assemblies in the set within approximately $\frac{1}{8}$ of an ounce. Main and connecting rod bearings on crankshaft are held true to within three ten-thousandths (.0003) of an inch.

Unusual accuracy of manufacturing methods

It is of course almost impossible to conceive of measurements as close as these. They are achieved only through the finest precision gages in the hands of expert workmen. The master blocks by which these gages are set are accurate to the almost incredible limit of a millionth of an inch.

The new Ford is distinguished by the trim, graceful simplicity of its lines and the beauty of its colors. Without being extreme, it has struck a new note in automobile designing. Shown here is the new Sport Coupe—one of the most popular of the new Ford cars. Wide, comfortable rumble seat is included as standard equipment.

of Ford manufacturing methods. If a part should be made accurate to a limit of .0003 of an inch, it is made .0003 of an inch. Margin of profit is made secondary to service.

All of this care and accuracy is an in Deep-seated therefore is the quality of the new Ford. You can see but a part of it with your eyes. Beneath the hood are countless invisible values. Summed up, they count for more than any one spectacular feature.

Because of the value that is in it, the new Ford is more than just a new automobile. It is a part of the life, the progress and the prosperity of the country. Our policy has always been to see that you get the very best materials—the most careful workmanship—the soundest design that can be built into a low-priced automobile.

Today, more than ever, the new Ford is the fulfillment of that ideal.

Stubborn Cough Quickly Ended by Famous Recipe

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubbern, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that usually follow the "flu."

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost.

a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creesote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known is medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Tex Fears For "Safety" Of Sharkey In DeKuh Bout Tonight

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Jack Sharkey, the restrained, distant young man from Boston, will be returned to circulation up in his home lided with Vivio town for a ten round frolic with Arthur De Kuh tonight and Tex Rickard and was fortunate and his directors of Madison Square in getting a draw Garden probably aren't casually interested. They are scared stupid. For all they know, Mr. Sharkey may be first round with a fixing to enact another Hansen-Christner disaster.

They got the tiding on that one only the jaw. a few days ago and expect to recover with kindness and tender care. It from experience completely eliminated one of the head men before the heavyweight elimination event could start doing big things boy. Profice is exin a big way and, while they had re-alized that Hansen had one of the most docile chins in all pugilism, they in the Smoky City felt they had reason to expect slightly community while, more wilfulness than this. Besides, they had wanted to save it for a handavictory for Vivio ful of knuckles that could be used to further advantage, meaning theirs.

So, they tremble for Sharkey today in Keystone state and for several reasons, one of which is that they would like to keep him, as is, against the possibility that he could be tossed in there next summer with Dempsey in order to take the rap off the Tunney-Heeney deficit. An other reason is that De Kuh really can hit and sometimes does and a third hit and sometimes uses and the that Sharkey hasn't been in there min gling for upward of five months. Mr Sharkey could have picked himself tougher spot but not without getting terribly conscientious about it.

Ordinarily, De Kuh doesn't belong

Fortunately, De Kuh isn't Heeney. But if he finds Sharkey can't hurt him, he might be better than Heeney ever could hope to be. Heeney's trouble is that he can't fight much; De Kuh's that he won't. Still, with things as found a pair of boys who are resum- a lively performance all the way.

powerful shoulders, as if to shake the troubled thoughts away. "Well—are you going to do as I say?" She hesitated. What did it matter? "All right," she agreed listlessly. "Til write. But don't tell Crystal yet. Promise?

He promised, bid her a hasty, teasing goodbye, and bounded down the rickety steps two at a time feeling better than he had for days. Pretty nice to bring a girl and her father together again. He'd have the two girls crying in each others arms next.. But though the picture of the two sisters with their arms entwined appealed to him he couldn't quite see Daphne in the role.

'She's a hard, independent little thing," he thought, and a shade of disapproval crossed his handsome face. "Crystal's so different. Of course they really aren't sisters at all. Well-I guess there aren't many like Crystal-all heart, and no head . . . poor little thing working herself to death to become a great artist, and save the family fortunes!"

He parked the car, turned out the lights, and went Icisurely to his comfortable apartment, and bed.

And in Mrs. Hinckle's back parlor, with the brown walls, and the faded green carpet, and the old Turkeyred couch. Daphne sat at her little table, trying to keep her promise, and write. "Dear Father," she wrote, in her neat, schoolgirl hand... dear father... She dropped her aching head on the table, and cried.

CHAPTER 35.

Adelina Haines, in a boudoir cap and bungalow apron went out to meet the postman. Few letters came, but there were always "one-centers" as she called them, bringing news of a sale of hats at Garthwaites, or Turner Brothers semi-annual twenty percent off on shoes

- and always the hope of news from Crystal.

Just one letter this morning! For Abner! Now who could be writing to Abner? A plain, white envelope, postmarked San Francisco. She stood there in the dust of the road, turning it over in her fat fingers. She thought once of steaming it open carefully over the teakettle, but mercy what a job! She'd just teahr it open, and tell him she thought it was addressed to Mrs. Abner Haines.

Old Man Haines, in his rocking chair by the kitchen stove, looked up when she came back into the house "Any mail, Adelina?"

"No," she said, "nothing today." "Funny," he mumbled, "I had kind of an idea I might get something. I kind of looked for a letter."

She began to clear the breakfast dishes with a great clatter of spoons and forks and cofee cups. "You're gettin' too many ideas lately, Abner. I don't like it. You are to be careful about ideas at your age. People'll think you're getting childish!'

Two days later Crystal got a letter from her mother. A long letter that began with Abner's "spells," went through two pages of insomnia and fallen arches, and then, with sudden change of tempo:

"Abner had a letter from Daphne. I nearly fell over when I saw it. I thought it best not to give it to him, all things considered. I may as well say I had to resort to a white lie to get the last money I sent you. I made up a little story about you wanting it for Daphne. In her letter to Abner she says she will come to see him if he wants, so I think it best you should go see her, and tell her Papa is still wild at her, and for her not to come

"As you know, I don't like to lie, but sometimes you have to with Abner, and what I said didn't do anybody any harm only it would make trouble if she came. Now be sure to see her as soon as you get this, because if he ever found out it was a white lie I told I think he would go crazy.

Your loving Mother. P. S. I mean what I say about seeing Daphne, care of Greely, Sanderson and McMartrie. I bet she is getting plenty out of McKevitt. You can't tell me she didn't look him up. One thing Gramma Caulifield always said, 'Never trust a white-faced woman,' and I never have. White rats I call them. You better watch out for Daphne. Don't let her do you out of McKevitt, pet, you will never find a better husband. And mama don't want you should run with artists. Always be a lady, and don't give anyone the chance to cast remarks about you. even if not true. Do as I say now, remember mother knows best, you will never have another friend like you mother."

Avery Woodward, stretched out on the couch, watch while Crystal read it.

"W & t's the glad tidings? Money from home?" She read it through again, rattling the pages, ignoring "Enclosed find check?" he persisted. "No, no check!" she said angrily. And not likely to get any more either. Didn't I tell you he was about down to bed-rock? Mama's killed the goose that laid the golden egg, that's what she's done. Ralph McKevitt says he's been borrowing on the orchards. He won't be able to keep up the interest, let alone pay it off. Next thing they'll lose the whole thing. He's got one foot in the grave but you bet mama hasn't. She'll live to be 97. Grandma Caulfield that she talks about in the letter was spry as I am at 97, when she ran a nail in her foot and died of lock-jaw, otherwise she would be alive yet. I can just see it coming. The first thing that goes wrong there on the ranch, mama will be coming to live with me, or wanting to!'

He roared. "Spoken like a true daughter. But do you think she'll grow to like me, dearest? She seems prejudiced against my calling.

"Don't be absurd. I'm serious. There'll be some kind of trouble with my stepsister too. If mama writes that much, she's worried.

"Going to call on the girl?"
"I-suppose so. What else can I do?"

"Is she so terrible?"

"Heaven no. Just dumb, and likely to be a nuisance.

I don't want her running in here, being chummy, I'll tell you that."
"Cramp your style, dearest?"

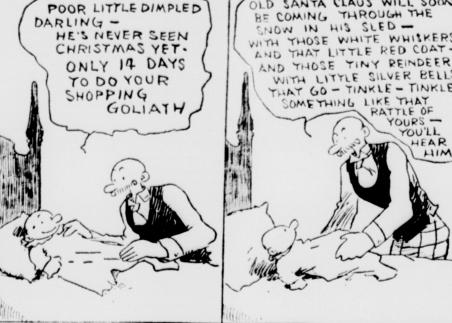

She said slowly, "McKevitt used to admire her. I suppose he still does. Not that I care," she added, when she saw the sardonic grin on Avery's dark features. He smoked in signice. After a long pause he said,

"I've got until tomorrow to pay my rent "You'll have to hurry and sell somthing, won't you?"
"I don't know that there is anything I care to sell," he returned loftily.
